PLAN A BIG EXHIBIT

"Greater Washington" Will Be Well Represented.

JAMESTOWN CHARTS ARE OPEN

Business Men Receive Reports of Committee Sent to the Exposition Grounds and Decide to Allot Space Already Signed For—A Municipal Exhibit to Be Encouraged.

"Greater Washington's" exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition was placed on its feet last night at a meeting of the joint committee of the three trade organizations. This committee of fifteen received the report of its special committee sent to Norfolk, Va., to secure space and obtain necessary information relative to the details of the exhibit.

Assistant Secretary Cium reported for the committee the results of its mission, and with it a report from the special committee on space containing several recommendations. These were taken up separately and acted upon.

The space reserved for the exhibit, as already published in The Herald, contains options on sections 17 and 19 in the upper right hand corner of the building of manufactures and liberal arts, lying nearest to the interior court. Additional space in the upper halves of sections 16 and 20, contiguous, are reserved subject to the decision of the Japanese commissioners to give up the space and take other space near their main exhibit. The entire reservation approximates 5,500 square feet.

Will Plot Sections.

The joint committee after considering the facts voted to secure the allotment of the space in sections 17 and 19, embracing 5,844 square feet. The committee on space was directed to make a plan of these two sections, subdivide the space in them and allot the subdivisions to those already signed for space, the price of the several allotments to be reported back to the joint committee. It was further determined to leave the matter of securing the allotment of additional space in sections 16 and 20 until the decision of the Japanese commission is learned. If this should be against the proposition of the Washington exhibitors, additional space will be obtained in sections 23 and 24 contiguous to the sections already determined upon.

With reference to the District municipal exhibit, 2,500 square feet of space is under option until January 1 in the upper right hand corner of the interior court. The option of this space was referred to the committee on space with instructions to submit the findings of the committee to the District Commissioners. Two of the trade bodies—the Business Men's Association and the Jobbers and Shippers' Association—have already acted upon the proposition of supporting the Commissioners in obtaining an appropriation from Congress for the display, and it is expected that one of the members of the Board of Trade will take similar action at its next meeting.

There was extended discussion of railings, booths and several other details of the exhibit. The committee presented plans, drafts of representative booths, and railings, but none of these matters were definitely settled upon, the committee deeming it prudent first to push forward the allotment of space and leaving the minor details to a future meeting of the committee.

Talk "Greater Washington."

After adjournment the committee resolved itself into a committee of the whole to discuss the "Greater Washington" movement. The sense of the meeting was that great and substantial benefit had been derived from the movement already, and that steps should be taken to make these benefits permanent and cumulative by energetic work to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the Southern field for trade and in the home field for industry and the better methods of doing business.

The committee was to be derived from a commercial club and from the cultivation of greater sociability among business men was talked over, as well as the effect of extending greater courtesies to persons visiting the city with a view to buying goods and looking after other business. No action, of course, was taken, as this part of the meeting was informal, but strong expression was given to the sentiment that Washington seriously needs to establish some means of making the business community a unit, and bringing men engaged in business into closer touch for the general good.

Chicago Firm to Lay Sidewalks.

The Commissioners have decided to award the contract for the laying of cement sidewalks in the District to S. Blome & Co., of Chicago, and preparations are now being made in the office of the engineer of highways to begin the work as soon as possible. Some apprehension is felt, however, owing to the recent announcement of the finishers of cement sidewalks that they had formed a union, and that from January 1, 1907, they would demand an increase in wages. What effect this may have on work of this character in the District is not known, but an effort is being made by the Commissioners to complete the laying of sidewalks as soon as possible.

To Plan Negro Exhibit.

The Negro Development and Exposition Company for the Jamestown Exposition will hold its first meeting in this city Thursday night, October 25, at the Vermont Avenue Baptist Church, of which Rev. George W. Lee is pastor. Other members of the company are: Charles R. Jackson, of Richmond, Va., director general of the company; will speak. Addresses will be made also by a number of prominent speakers of this city. It is proposed to show at the Jamestown Exposition everything the negro race has done or accomplished from an industrial point of view. The sum of $100,000 has been appropriated by Congress for the negro exhibit at the exposition.

Police Trial Board Changed.

At the request of Maj. Sylvester, Inspector F. E. Cross has been detailed to serve as a member of the Metropolitan police trial board at the trial of Capt. William H. Matthews in the place of Capt. H. B. Elliott. Capt. Matthews is charged with the violation of several of the police regulations at the scene of the overturning of a locomotive at Maryland avenue and Sixth street on September 11, as the result of which Engineer Hugh Murphy lost his life. The change in the board is made by the Commission in order that the hearing of Capt. Matthews may be had before a board of his superiors.

Incorporate Charity Organization.

Charles F. Weller, Eugenia Winston Weller, and John B. Slemmon, Jr., of this city, yesterday filed papers in the office of the recorder of deeds, incorporating Neighborhood House, the purpose of which is to carry on active social settlement work, organize social clubs, classes in educational work, playgrounds, and other work in keeping with the intent of the incorporators. Fourteen trustees are to manage the affairs of the institution for the first year.

DENY DISTRICT'S POWER.

Frank Pitzer and Others Want Assessments Invalidated.

Frank Pitzer and about a dozen other persons of this city yesterday entered suit in the District Supreme Court against the District of Columbia, and petitioned the court to grant an injunction restraining the defendant from enforcing and to declare invalid the assessments against their properties and the collection of the same, on the records of the defendant.

The assessments grew out of the laying of a new culvert along both sides of the street on which the properties of the plaintiffs adjoin. On March 18, 1905, the engineer of highways reported to the Commissioners the laying of a new curb as stated, assessing one-half of costs against abutting lots.

It is alleged that without further action the Commissioners published in a local paper a notice that this and about 100 other pieces of work were deemed necessary for the public health and welfare, and warning persons having objections to appear on April 5 following.

This assessment, it is claimed, was the only notice given, and was unknown to plaintiffs, or the fact that such improvement was contemplated. The street was resurfaced and reduced from forty to thirty-two feet, doing great damage to the property abutting thereon.

The plaintiffs allege the Commissioners have no jurisdiction in the premises; that they levied an assessment of one-half of the costs against all property abutting the street, and have notified the property owners that if the assessment is not paid their respective properties would be sold for the payment of the costs. They claim the assessment is illegal and void because of insufficiency of advertisement, and further allege the narrowing of the street illegal because no defect existed in the old curbing.

WANTS MORE LAMPS.

Engineer Suggests Change in Cleveland Park Lighting.

Electrical Engineer Walter C. Allen yesterday called the attention of the Commissioners to the poor condition of the lighting of Wisconsin avenue, north from Georgetown, and on Newark street, Highland avenue, and adjacent streets in Cleveland Park. Incandescent electric lamps, he stated, are now used on Wisconsin avenue, placed on every other trolley pole, an average distance between lamps of 29 feet. On the streets of Cleveland Park they are placed on every other pole carrying overhead wires. The distance apart of the lamps varies from 29 to 59 feet.

On the location of the trolley poles on Wisconsin avenue, he says, the sidewalk on the opposite side of the road is but dimly lighted. On the streets in Cleveland Park the poles and overhead wires set back from the roadway about fifteen feet, with a row of trees between the lights and the roadway. No material improvement would be made by placing the incandescent lamps closer together, he states, as the wires still be serious interference from the trees.

In order to make proper illumination on the above named streets, Mr. Allen recommends that gas lamps be substituted for the incandescent electric lamps as far as the gas mains extend. These streets are now lighted with approximately forty-six incandescent electric lights, and it is recommended that approximately ninety-two gas lamps be substituted.

Mr. Allen also recommends that approximately forty-two gas lamps be erected on Massachusetts avenue extended, from Waterside drive to Wisconsin avenue.

TYPHOID ON THE INCREASE.

Thirty-four New Cases Reported to Health Office Since Tuesday.

Typhoid fever is on the increase this week, thirty-four new cases having been reported to the Health Department since 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. Unless there is a decided decrease it is expected the weekly record of typhoid will reach a total of seventy new cases. Dr. Woodward, of the health office, is unable to account for the sudden increase in typhoid, as he says the disease generally subsides toward the latter part of September and nothing of any consequence is heard of it again until the early spring.

Dr. Woodward and the officials of the health office, are adopting every means within their power to check the spread of the disease, a rigid investigation being made of every new case reported.

Dr. Woodward yesterday declared the depositing of sweepings from the streets and refuse from the markets on a vacant lot at Thirteenth and Elroy streets, to be unlawful. A number of complaints have been received by the Commissioners regarding the matter, one of the reasons for the prevalence of typhoid being attributed to these conditions. Dr. Woodward recommended that H. Clay Jones, who is alleged to be responsible, be allowed a certain time in which to remove the refuse complained of, and if this is not complied with he suggests a prosecution should follow.

Place Watchman at Crossing.

Upon recommendation of Engineer of Highways C. B. Hunt, the Commissioners yesterday requested the officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company to place a watchman at the Pennsylvania avenue crossing of their Washington Branch tracks, with instructions to precede each train to its destination, flagging each crossing as passed. In addition the police have been instructed to call attention to any neglect of duty on the part of the watchman. Several accidents have been narrowly averted at this crossing.

Building Permits.

Building permits were issued by Inspector Ashford yesterday, as follows: To John Brennan, for one two-story brick dwelling at 2825 V street northwest. Builder, John Brennan. Estimated cost, $2,000. To Henry Tauer, for one two-story frame dwelling at Twining City. Builders, Herbert & Taylor. Estimated cost, $2,000. To Arthur Carr, for three two-story brick dwellings at 1527-1535 E street northwest. Builder, Arthur Carr. Estimated cost, $8,000. To Charles H. Hays, for one second-story addition at 1302 1 street northwest. Estimated cost, $1,200.

CAKCLING NOT MUSIC TO HER

Mrs. Ellen F. Wanamaker Echoes Call for Fowl Legislation.

Makes Report to Commissioner Macfarland on the Number of Times Neighboring Roosters Crows.

"Quack, quack, quack," said the merry old goose. "Cluck, cluck," said the hen, and any one knows that that's a warning some one will have eggs for breakfast in the morning, but Mrs. Ellen F. Wanamaker, of 1622 Monroe street, misinterpreted the maternal salutation because it sounded like her own yawn intermezzo to her. She reported that with clock-like regularity, the cock of the flock had punctuated the egg layer's remarks thrice a minute from 4:15, or possibly 4:16, until 6 o'clock in the morning.

In fact, Mrs. Wanamaker took the trouble to count the crows and she has reported them to Commissioner Macfarland in a letter pleading for the enactment of the proposed law that will prohibit the domesticating of chickens within the city limits. She reported that the cocks of the flock were so noisy that they had reached the Commissioners, asking for fowl legislation. Even to the point of existing without eggs some of the plainest said they would go, to forego the clatter of the happy hen, proud and noisy as she pecks for the early worm and shrieks aloud because she hates to have people sleep, but because her ancestors have been so long since been legislated against, nor does she know that she herself is to become the object of fowl legislation.

Exit, vanquished, skidoo, then, even twenty-three for the hen. No more had eggs, no more had actors—indeed a sad case. In the rear future artificial eggs, artificial hatching house chicken—no sign of the times, as evidenced by the horseless carriages and the meatless meat. No one to sing her praise, no one to egg her on and advise, she stands—the hen—alone in the world.

RAN OFF WITH A SUIT.

Richmond Man, with Hard Luck, Robs Washington Tailor.

The milk of human kindness soured in a tailor shop yesterday afternoon, when Louis Savage, who has a shop at 417 H street northwest, was "dismayed" out of a $45 suit by a man who said his name was Wendling.

The stranger went into Savage's place and asked for work, explaining that he was from Richmond, Va., and was down on his luck. He was well dressed, but that is a tailor's business, and he doesn't know that the hawks have long since been legislated against, nor does she know that she herself is to become the object of fowl legislation.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

Fred May, local real estate dealer and summer inhabitant of Bar Harbor, has arrived in Washington for the winter. He took up his duties at the office yesterday and hopes to have an active fall and winter business.

Much comment passed among real estate men yesterday over the low price bid for the property 1325 G street, sold at auction the day before. Something like $63,000 was offered for the property within a year, but that it could not be sold, its title being under litigation. It was purchased by Frank P. Burke for $52,000.

Jesse W. Rawlings, who has been associated with his father, F. T. Rawlings, in the real estate business in this city, has gone to Seattle, where he will engage in business in the same line. He left Chicago Monday night, and is supposed to be in the track of the blizzard recently sweeping the region east of the Rockies.

The East End Suburban Citizens' Association has just closed a deal with F. T. Rawlings for five lots and parts of lots in block H, Cottage Hill subdivision, in Northeast Washington. The price was nominal, the object of the purchase being to secure the right of way for the opening of M street. A law was passed by Congress for the opening of that street eastward from the Bladensburg road, and the five lots in question hung up the findings of the jury in the condemnation proceedings. Interested parties, through the citizens' association, bought the property to avoid resort to the appointment of another jury of condemnation. The street will now be opened in the natural order of events and large holdings of property in the Cottage Hill subdivision will be placed on the market.

Fight for Wide Street.

The property owners of Newton street at a hearing before the Commissioners yesterday entered a protest to the proposed widening of that street from thirty to twenty-four feet from Fourteenth street west. It was declared that the street is now so narrow it is difficult for automobiles to turn, and that there is also danger of a blockade in traffic. Opposition was made to the widening of the street several years ago on the ground that an extension of a street car line was feared, but this danger being now passed the residents object to the narrowing of the street. The present width will probably be retained, providing a uniform building line is established by the property owners.

Purchaser Gets Damages.

A jury in Circuit Court No. 1, Justice Wright presiding, yesterday rendered a verdict in favor of George C. Tower, for $3,888.10, with interest from February 6, 1906, against Ernest W. Ladd. The defendant, it is alleged, sold to the plaintiff in April, 1905, the furnishings of a rooming house known as "The Patuxent," located at 819 Twelfth street northwest, together with lease privileges, for $2,790. The suit grew out of the nonperformance of an agreement the defendant made with the plaintiff, and which, it is alleged, he failed to keep.

Gets Hints from Maj. Sylvester.

Chief of Police H. Mallory Boush, of Norfolk, Va., was in the city yesterday to confer with Maj. Sylvester, of the local department, regarding plans for policing the Jamestown Exposition grounds. Norfolk is the largest city in near proximity to Jamestown, and the work of police protection will be directed from that place. Chief Boush returned last night.

BURY F. H. STICKNEY FRIDAY.

Deceased One of the Best-known Government Employees.

Funeral services over the remains of Francis H. Stickney, disbursing clerk of the Navy Department, who died at his late residence of apoplexy early yesterday morning, will be held at Calvary Baptist Church Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Greene, pastor of the church, will officiate. The honorary pallbearers are: Messrs. W. S. Shallenberger, H. G. Jacobs, A. L. Swartwout, James Motherhead, D. A. Chambers, and N. S. Fawcett. The detailed arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed, and it is not known whether a delegation from the Navy Department will attend.

Mr. Stickney was one of the oldest and best-known employees of the Navy Department. He was a typical gentleman of the old school, courtly in his manner, and universally kind to all those under him, and he won the respect and esteem of all with whom he came in contact. He was born in Vassalboro, Me., October 19, 1820, and first entered the government service as a clerk in the Treasury Department in 1857. Three years later he was transferred to the Navy Department, and efficient service won him rapid promotion. He became disbursing clerk in May, 1871, and served in that capacity until the time of his death.

He handled many millions of dollars of government money with the strictest integrity and entire satisfaction to his superiors and all others connected with the office. When the new order was issued regarding government disbursements, his books were gone over by specialists for the first time in fourteen years. In all that time they found a shortage of one cent, and this fact was a standing joke with Mr. Stickney's many friends, who flooded him with offers to make up the deficit. The books of his office have been placed under lock and key, and will be officially closed by Treasury Department officials within a few days.

Sue to Recover Land.

Mary Eleanor Wilson, Amelia Maria Wilson, William Harris Wilson, John Aquilla Wilson, and Adelaide Brown yesterday entered suit in the District Supreme Court against Chester A. Snow, of this city, for recovery of a piece of land being tract and parcel of land known as parts lot 1 and 2, in James Dunsen subdivision of "Bayley's Purchase," located near the Eastern Branch. The property is the same as conveyed by Adelaide Wilson to Leonard Huxley, by deed dated March 8, 1882. The plaintiffs state that the value of the use and occupation of the land in dispute is $3,000 per annum, and that during his possession and occupancy the defendant has done injury to the premises amounting to $3,000. The suit, on second count, is for the recovery of $5,000 damages and costs incurred by the plaintiffs in the prosecution of the suit. Eugene Carusi and Charles F. Carusi appear as attorneys for the plaintiffs.

Goes After All the Officials.

The attention of the Commissioners has been directed by Maj. Sylvester to the circulating of a petition to Congress by Lewis J. Marshall, a former inmate of the Government Asylum for the Insane, in which it is charged that the Commissioners have exceeded their authority in promulgating a regulation requiring a license for street speakers. Congress is also asked to investigate "the illegal methods and practices of officials of the United States government in depriving persons of property without due process of law, and depriving persons of liberty without trial by jury, and in this manner suppressing freedom of speech and press in the District of Columbia." Included among the officials above referred to are the Commissioners, the members of the police department, the judges of the District Police Courts, and the superintendent of the District workhouse.

Word was received by the local police last night that the St. Louis authorities had arrested Walter Lideck, of Washington, D. C., who is wanted here on a charge of stealing money and jewelry from a firm for whom he was salesman. He was apprehended more than a year ago in St. Louis and was returned here for trial. He was out on bond and jumped and returned to that city again. He will be sent for and returned for trial.

REWARD FOR HORSETHIEF.

Supposed Washington Man Eludes Pennsylvania Officers.

"Lookout" cards that would make a large addition to any sovereign collection have been received by the local detective office, asking for the apprehension of a man who says his name is Johnson, of Washington, D. C., charged with being a horse thief. The man is not an ordinary horse thief in the Western meaning of the term, but he carries on an extensive business, having operated in the following Pennsylvania towns: Greencastle, Brownsville, Berlin, Hollidaysburg, and Ephrata. In nearly every one of these towns the man is said to have made away with a team, usually the best in that neighborhood.

Johnson played his last act in Greencastle, Pa., where he is alleged to have broken into a barn and taken a beautiful pair of blacks out, driving away while the sheriff and a posse were looking for him. There are rewards ranging from $20 to $50, aggregating more than $200, offered for the man. He is described as being twenty-five years old, five feet ten inches, light brown mustache, and gold tooth in front.
